LANGLEY, B.C. (CP)—Some candidates in the British Columbia by-elections in Delta and Burnaby ridings are using the same arguments that helped the Conservatives win the federal election.

New Cars Prizes At Bingo

Three new cars will be given away at a monster bingo game Sept. 30, sponsored by the Victoria Kinmen Club, bingo chairman Jack Phillion said last night.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Surgeon-General LeRoy Burney warned yesterday that Asiatic flu could strike more than 34,000,000 Americans and have a "terrific" impact on the U.S.

Burney said indications are the disease would sweep the United States in from four to six weeks and hit from 10 to 20 per cent of the population. In some areas, such as communications, and the government, this would have a crippling effect, he said.

Atom Stockpile Britain's Aim

CANBERRA (Reuters)—Britain intends to build up quickly a stockpile of nuclear and guided weapons, British Defence Minister Duncan Sandys told Australian defence planners Monday.

OTHER POINTS

Conference sources said Sandys also made these other points in outlining defence plans at the opening of the British-Australian talks:

1. Britain intends to continue using Australia's Maralinga range to test a variety of nuclear weapons.

Little Girl Killed In 'Avoidable' Crash

COURTENAY — A six-year-old girl was killed last night when a car crashed into a house, according to a coroner's inquest.

The coroner's jury agreed that the accident could have been avoided had Mrs. Garseth's car been under control.

Reds Shock Nasser

Mid-East Rattled By Syrian Coup

Foolish Adventure Could Spark War

By the Associated Press

A new general crisis threatens the Middle East as a result of the weekend power seizure in stormy Syria by a clique of pro-Soviet officers.

It will take some time for a while the Syrian regime stamps out internal resistance and nails down its power. But already a wave of shock has gone through the ranks of Arab world leaders.

In addition, a sharp reaction can be expected from Turkey which will have no liking for the prospect of a nation on her southern frontier becoming a military and political base for Soviet communism in the Middle East.

JOLT FOR NASSER

For President Nasser of Egypt, the Syrian events pose big problems. An Egyptian officer commands both the Syrian and Egyptian armies in a joint command arrangement.

But the rise of a known Communist jolt Nasser's proclaimed policy of "positive neutrality" in the cold war, and is bound to raise profound anxiety in Egypt's middle class.

To keep his control, Nasser himself now may be forced into some extreme moves—or, barring that, to revise his policy of professed enmity for the West.

For a while, the Syrian regime can be expected to be preoccupied with internal business. Gen. Aft. Birry, 43, known throughout the Middle East as an extreme leftist, apparently is in control of the

Dollar Soars To New High

NEW YORK (UP)—The Canadian dollar rose to an unprecedented 55.16 cent premium over the U.S. dollar in foreign exchange trading.

Yesterday's all-time high is 9.16 cent above the old high of 51.05, which had stood from Nov. 1933 until last month.

Traders said they expect the Canadian dollar to gather even more strength in view of reports that British, French and West German investors are redirecting capital into the Canadian market.

Newcomers Win Posts In Cabinet

OTTAWA (BUP)—Prime Minister John Diefenbaker last night named a freshman MP and a second-term to ministerial posts.

Jay Waldo Monteith, 54, of Stratford, Ont., was appointed minister of national health and welfare, and Francis Alvin Hamilton, 45, of Qu'Appelle, Sask., was named minister of northern affairs.

The appointments still leave three cabinet posts technically open—external affairs, defence production and citizenship and immigration.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he would retain the external affairs portfolio and Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton, that of citizenship and immigration.

ALL FOR PRESENT

No further cabinet appointments will be made "until the session is underway," the prime minister added.

Mr. Diefenbaker also announced the appointment of four parliamentary assistants following yesterday's cabinet meeting. They are:

Walter Dinsdale, Brandon, Man., parliamentary assistant to the minister of veterans' affairs; David J. Walker, newly elected Conservative for Toronto-Rosedale, parliamentary assistant to the minister of justice; Wallace Bickford Nesbitt, (PC Oxford, Ont.) parliamentary assistant to the prime minister; Richard A. Bell, newly elected member for Carleton, portfolio.

SENATOR WALTER'S BILL

He Wants All Reds Jailed Ten Years

WASHINGTON (UP)—Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) of the House committee on un-American activities plans to offer sweeping new anti-subversive legislation that would provide jail sentences and heavy fines for anyone belonging to the Communist party.

The measure, designed to offset recent Supreme Court decisions, also would protect the sanctity of FBI files and impose penalties on witnesses refusing to testify before congressional committees.

Walter said he realized the bill stands no chance of passage in the closing days of the present session, but "its presentation now will serve to stimulate additional thought by members of Congress in the coming months so that it can be non-enforceable since passage of the Smith Act.

Strip the citizenship rights from any American accepting employment from any Communist government.

Forbid Communist lawyers from practicing before congressional committees or government agencies.

Forbid the departure of any airplane or ship carrying a person out of the United States without a passport.

Milkmen Decide Strike Issue Tomorrow Night

Whether Victoria will suffer a milk strike will be decided by city milkmen tomorrow night.

The 165 salesmen and plant employees will have the issue put to them at a general meeting by members of their policy committee.

Inconclusive talks were held with representatives of the four dairies concerned yesterday. Union officials said no further talks will be held.

Officials of Local 464, Milk Salesmen and Dairy Employees' Union were not optimistic when they entered a "final" meeting with management yesterday afternoon.

A spokesman for the dairies, Archie Wills, issued a statement, which he would not expand.

"We held a meeting and negotiations are continuing. I don't know when we will meet again. It was normal procedure, just normal procedure."

Other dairy officials would not comment.

A union official, however, said there would be no further talks with management before the general membership meeting.

The union policy committee met last night to review results of the negotiations. Under special consideration was a "suggestion" of management, on which policy committee members still were split last night after an evening's discussion.

"We'll meet again at 7 p.m. Wednesday, before the general meeting at 8," a spokesman said. "We want to explore this matter carefully; we would certainly like to avoid a strike if possible."

A strike vote has already been approved by the international headquarters of the Teamsters' Union, with which the milk salesmen are affiliated.

Scotland Yard Asks Socialites About Suicide

LONDON—Scotland Yard yesterday delved into friendships and finances of society photographer Anthony Beauchamp searching for a suicide motive.

The estranged husband of actress Sarah Churchill, daughter of Sir Winston Churchill, was found dead in his luxurious apartment apparently from an overdose of sleeping pills.

Police refused to classify the death of the 39-year-old Beauchamp as suicide. An inquest will be held Wednesday.

Beauchamp called police about jewelry stolen from Mrs. Davina West, a niece of Lord Portman, one of his close friends.

Beauchamp also was a close friend of Lady Jane Vane-Tempest-Stewart, sister of the Marquis of Londonderry. Lady Jane, 25, sent police to Beauchamp's apartment after he telephoned her.

Sharmine Teruchalvam, exotic model from Ceylon, said she and Beauchamp had been friends for years.

NEW YORK—An ex-prize fighter and hoodlum, Vincent "Chin" Gigante, sought for three months in the shooting of gambling czar Frank Costello, dropped in on police yesterday and, after questioning, was charged with attempted murder.

OTTAWA—Defence Minister George Peckham yesterday refused to give in to militia protests and left intact an order establishing the Canadian Guards as the honor regiment for Queen Elizabeth's October visit here. Peckham said that the Canadian Guards should have precedence over all other units.

VANCOUVER—Howard K. Travers, chief of mission for the inter-governmental committee for European Immigration, complimented Canada for its attitude towards Hungarian refugees. Canada's policy of avoiding strict statutory limits to the number of immigrants had done a "tremendous lot" to ease the situation.

WASHINGTON—Einar O. Moha, top assistant to Teamster president Dave Beck, testified yesterday that union vice-president James R. Hoffa requested the charters for seven New York locals allegedly controlled by racketeers.

WASHINGTON—Admiral Lewis Strauss, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, says the luminous dial of a wrist watch delivers more radiation "than all that received from the accumulated fall-out to date."

STANLEYVILLE, Belgian Congo—A man-eating lion that had haunted Stanleyville province was shot and killed while devouring the last of 12 victims. Africans flocked from all over to see the lion's skin here and stoned it while acclaiming a young hunter, Ndeka, who had killed it.

WINNIPEG—Premier Douglas Campbell said yesterday Manitoba is "as good as in" the national hospital insurance plan. Manitoba becomes the seventh province to indicate its intention of joining.

TORONTO—The body of seven-year-old Norman Crocker, missing for a week, was found yesterday in Lake Ontario near where he was last seen. The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Crocker, believed he might have been abducted.

U.S. Puts Forward New Arms Plans

LONDON (UP)—The United States had made "far-reaching" new disarmament proposals to its allies in an attempt to prevent the five-power London arms conference from breaking down, authoritative sources disclosed last night.

Details were kept secret but open skies and a halt to future A-bomb production remain key conditions for any agreement with Russia, the sources said.

Passport Proves Star Wasn't There

Couldn't Have Cuddled

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—The start of yesterday's session he, chief attorney for Confidential Magazine, New York lawyer Daniel G. Ross, yesterday testified he saw nothing libelous or obscene in a story about Negro singer Dorothy Dandridge, although the magazine agreed to retract the story and pay her a settlement.

Deputy district attorney William L. Ritz succeeded in introducing for identification a letter from Confidential, publisher Robert L. Harrison in which he apologized for the "humiliation and embarrassment" which the article caused Miss Dandridge, who was reported by her attorney to have received a $10,000 cash settlement.

The article titled "Only the birds and the bees saw what Dorothy Dandridge did in the woods" appeared in the May, 1957, issue of Confidential.

Chief defense attorney Arthur Crowley announced before the "cuddling" was supposed to have taken place, she was in Europe making a movie.

The passport showed she left New York Sept. 19, went to Ireland, Paris and then to Spain, where the picture was made.

It was stamped that she re-turned to the United States in January, 1954.

At the same time, Miss O'Hara increased her libel suit against Confidential Magazine from $1,000,000 to $5,000,000.

Saanich Council Answered

RESULT of the municipal hall referendum show unmistakably how the ratepayers feel about civic affairs in Saanich and the outlook for future expansion. It was a deplorably small vote—a mere 20 per cent of the list of eligibles—and had the margin of defeat been narrow no one would have dared to call the outcome a fair gauge of the attitude of the district as a whole. But when the ratepayers express themselves two to one against something their council proposes, as they did on Saturday, that must be taken as conclusive evidence of public dissatisfaction with council policy.

It is significant that this vote was made a test of feeling on the subject of amalgamation. That was done by the council itself quite openly, and the answer now received should influence the trend of events in the future. It does not of course mean that Saanich must proceed towards amalgamation with the city, now or later. All it does signify is a wish on the part of the taxpayers that the feasibility of joining the two municipalities be thoroughly examined.

This is the second time in less than a year that a large majority of the ratepayers have made that wish clear. Last December by a three-to-one vote they instructed the council to study the possibility of combining forces with the City in the construction of joint City-Saanich administrative headquarters, each operating separately but under one roof. No secret had been made before the vote was taken of the fact that such an action could—though not necessarily would—be a first step towards amalgamation. The council, however, with the sole exception of Reeve Ash, disregarded the ratepayers' wishes and went ahead with plans for an extension of the present hall at Royal Oak, which Saturday's vote overwhelmingly rejected.

The City is reported to be receptive to overtures on the subject of a joint hall, and Reeve Ash is taking quick action to arrange a conference. Equally important will be the resumption of studies of the possibilities of amalgamation. Having proclaimed that Saturday's vote was a test of the taxpayers' wishes, the council cannot very well let the issue lie there. The referendum has done a great deal to clear the Saanich air, and it is earnestly to be hoped that it will engender a more co-operative spirit within the council. This is the opportunity for a fresh start.

Chronic Shortage of Teachers

A SEVERE setback to British Columbia's education system as a whole appears to be inevitable this year as a result of inability to complete the teachers' rosters. Education Minister Peterson has officially informed the B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation that the province will be approximately 200 teachers short of the minimum requirement when the schools reopen after Labor Day, and at this date it is probably too late to hope that the gap will be narrowed appreciably in the two weeks remaining.

The seriousness of the situation in parts of British Columbia is made apparent by the minister's confirmation of fears mentioned some months ago when the annual teacher recruiting campaign was under way. It is now established that some schools in the more remote regions will stay closed when the new term begins. Schools on Vancouver Island and in other centres of population will be in a more fortunate position. Apparently the supply of teachers for the favored regions will be enough to staff all grades, but in many instances the classes themselves will become more unwieldy. In consequence the aim of school principals and the Parent-Teacher Federation to hold classes down to a maximum of 30 pupils per teacher cannot be attained in the foreseeable future.

British Columbia may draw some slight consolation from the fact that while the situation here is not good it is better than in many other parts of the country and a great deal better than in the United States. British Columbia is a province favored by teachers trained elsewhere in Canada and also in the United Kingdom. The scarcity of teachers all over the North American continent has become a chronic condition, annually growing worse rather than better. No satisfactory solution has appeared as yet. As a national problem as well as a provincial and local one it merits earnest study on a national level.

Too Many Guards

IF there is a hot potato more awkward to handle than a military regiment it would be hard to find. Any attempt to invade the sanctity of its traditions, or encroach on its prerogatives, is to invite a charge with drawn bayonets. It must surely have been a momentary aberration that caused the defence department to forget this, or it wouldn't have landed itself in a prize pickle.

The trouble is, perhaps, that Canada has too many Guards. It was asking for the kind of contretemps that has arisen when a few years ago the Regiment of Canadian Guards was formed as part of the standing regular army. Theoretically at least this demoted two existing guards units, the militia battalions of the Governor-General's Foot Guards and the Canadian Grenadier Guards. The situation wasn't made any more distinct by the fact that they all wear the typical guards' red coats and bearskins; at even a short distance they look alike. The demotion has gone past theory, however; the Foot Guards have been displaced from the ceremonial honors which will mark the Queen's visit to Ottawa.

It is no wonder there is general growl of "Up Guards and at 'Em." For decades the Foot Guards have provided the honor guard for the governor-general on state occasions and been on show when VIPs of sufficient status warranted their attendance. This ceremonial duty has been a prized role for the reserve unit; now the Foot Guards are to step aside and watch the regular army's Canadian Guards Regiment take over for the royal visit. The Foot Guards have every reason for their highly vocal complaint.

On the other hand the Regiment of Canadian Guards was created and posted as the premier regiment of the army, with precedence over all other units. One presumes that automatically calls for its attendance when the Queen opens Parliament. But unless two honor guards are scheduled for separate occasions so that both regular and militia units may be employed the predicament sets one complement of the army against the other. That would be poor business for the defence department and even poorer for the recruiting officers.

The British Army has five regiments of foot guards, and no doubt its own awkward moments when military harmony becomes a testy affair; three regiments of guards seem altogether too much for the Canadian Army, in more ways than one.

Interpreting the News

New Zealand's New Premier

By United Press Staff Correspondent

WELLINGTON, New Zealand—Nationalist Prime Minister Sidney G. Holland's decision to quit politics may keep his party in the political saddle in the critical forthcoming general elections.

Theoretically a change of leadership on election eve imperils a party. But political observers here point out that the Nationalists are far more popular than their pro-British monarchy-minded standard bearer.

Few New Zealanders question the government's solid record of industrial peace and inflation control. Even the Labor Party, which gave New Zealand its welfare economy and which has 35 parliamentary seats to the Tories' 45, presents no more popular a political platform.

But Mr. Holland is said to be so widely disliked that his leadership is more of a hindrance than a help in reassuring party victory. His apparent smugness—excused by friends as self-confidence—is even difficult for reserved New Zealanders to tolerate. Not even his record as an enlightened employer—he introduced profit-sharing in his agricultural firm in the 1930's—compensates for his personal unpopularity.

Mr. Holland's successor, deputy prime minister and Minister of Agriculture Keith J. Holyoake, has many of the qualities, however, that make him popular at the grass roots level.

As the first farmer to become prime minister in two decades, he will have the wholehearted support of the widespread agricultural population. He is a self-made man who left school at 12, but is considered one of the best read men in Parliament. He also is an expert forward at rugby, a game that is practically a national institution.

Fifty-year-old Mr. Holyoake has political understanding and a pleasing manner and appearance. He is known for his trim, lean build. He takes pride in his distinguished English ancestors, including the famous George Jacob Holyoake, who pioneered the English co-operative movement.

But Holyoake will not always bend to Whitehall. Recently he led an unsuccessful agricultural mission to England, the results of which convinced him that the British Foreign Office was hard and cynical, and that its main interest in New Zealand was to get produce "cheap."

If his party is returned to power Holyoake may be instrumental in urging the revision of trade restrictions that exclude all but token shipments of foreign goods.

"Children! Think of the example you're setting for your elders"

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

CALCUTTA playgoers, I was interested to note the other day, are not like those who sat on the hard seats of the Globe Theatre in Shakespeare's day, nor, indeed, like twentieth-century spectators at a wrestling match. They do not like gore. When "Hamlet" was first shown there the play was rechristened "Unnecessary Murders."

The Bengalis have a point, nevertheless. By the play's end the stage is littered with dead and bloody bodies. All in all the "gentle" Shakespeare contrived six violent deaths. No wonder it was the longest of his tragedies; he needed time to space the murders.

And, of course, he had to think of his audience. The Londoners loved bloodshed and no natty-pamby imitation like ketchup either. The actors had to be expert with sword and dagger and skilled at sleight-of-hand, for they worked in daylight and close to the audience. Real blood was used, albeit a sheep's. Sometimes though, as happened when an actor forgot his protective plate and later staggered into St. Paul's Churchyard to die, the utmost in reality was achieved.

Shakespeare could have stabbed the king himself. He was an actor of repute although not so Shakespearean as his friend Burbage, who was the first Hamlet; that was how he earned his living. The royalty system for playwrights hadn't been invented. But he would consider himself too old to play the gloomy Dane, although not as old as the twentieth-century Hamlets, who paradoxically are usually twice the age of the boy who was sickled over with the pale cast of thought.

Hamlet, you see, was scarcely old enough to own a key to the front door; he was an undergraduate, which probably accounts for his inhibitions. It is no light matter to bump off a usurper when one is an adolescent, even if he has done one's old man to death. A pity perhaps there had not been a psychiatrist at Elsinore; he might have freed the prince to more resolute endeavour. But then the play would have ended abruptly and Shakespeare had to remember the cash customers. If they didn't get a good run for their money they wouldn't come back another day.

There had to be room also for those marvellous soliloquies and the large number of new words he coined, the like of which make us gape even to this day. They are so wonderful in fact Hamlet could never have played himself; he was too immature by half. As far as that goes Shakespeare couldn't have written the play at Hamlet's age either; he had to reach the seasoned vintage of 38 years before he understood the psychology of a confused boy.

All of which makes the whole thing topsy-turvy and inclines one to take the bloodshed as it drips even if the Bengalis do not like it. "Hamlet" is no kind of "Hamlet" without Hamlet himself, but one hesitates to imagine what it would be like without the "unnecessary murders." "Little Lord Fauntleroy," I suppose.

Reports from Ottawa

PRIME Minister Diefenbaker's appointment of a press secretary is an innovation in Ottawa, and a sign that the Conservatives are trying to keep the good press they have had since they took office—good, that is, except for some sharp criticism of the PM's slowness in filling cabinet posts.

The new secretary, James R. Nelson, is a thoroughly competent newsman. He will take over his new job next week, when he quits as parliamentary correspondent for British United Press and resigns as president of the Parliamentary Press Gallery. In his new post he will be the Canadian counterpart of James Hagerly, press secretary at the White House.

Although there is an obvious political reason for the PM to desire to maintain good press relations—namely, the likelihood of an election next year—Nelson has an understanding with the Tory party's publicity chief that the latter will handle matters that are clearly political. Nelson will be the press aide in Diefenbaker's role as head of the government, but not in his other capacity as leader of the Conservative Party.

Such bifurcation will probably turn out to be the unattainable ideal, but so much good can come from the new arrangement that it may well outweigh any criticism that the PM has set up his own propaganda bureau. Henceforth a new channel of information will exist between the media of news dissemination and the prime minister. Theoretically there should be a greater flow of hard news from the PM's office, although not necessarily in the form of press releases. Nelson's most important function probably will be to answer, or get answers to, the questions of reporters.

When Cookery Was Culture

By GREGORY CLARK

WITH the picking season only a couple of weeks away, I would like to tell you about my grandmother, Louisa Greig and her three friends, Auntie Turnbull, Mrs. Armour and Mrs. Malloch. My memory places them as very old and venerable ladies in black sateen and lustre, with bonnets encasing their tidy old heads, they all being widows. Men died younger, 50 years ago.

I suppose they were in their sixties. It was their custom, all through the year, to meet every Wednesday at somebody's house: the home of a niece, nephew, son, daughter; and when they ran out of these they elected the home of some dear friend of any of their families, who are often closer than kin.

They arrived carrying their aprons and pet cooking utensils, such as a favorite paring knife or a measuring spoon, in their black satin shopping bags.

After greetings they proceeded at once to the kitchen and took over. They took over for the whole day, and the doggedest jamboree of cooking, baking, pickling, preserving, preparing you ever imagined. It was their hobby, their recreation and their joy. These four old ladies, in an unobtrusive way, were endeavoring to keep alive the ancient Canadian culture they had inherited from the pioneer ancestors. Cookery 50 years ago was one of the larger aspects of culture. A cultured home in Canada was one in which you got a great big square meal.

Of course at pickling time, when redolent September dawned, there was quite a lot of feuding in our various families. The Wednesdays had to be given up by the merry quartet, because Grandma Greig was seized upon by one or other of her immediate daughters or daughters-in-law for the whole pickling fortnight. And the other three ladies suffered a like imprisonment by their kin.

It is happy and it is sad to recollect them now. When you walked along the September streets of our cities, towns and villages, the very air was heavy with the incense of pickling. I used to think of it as the autumnal incense our homes sent up in thanksgiving to God for the harvest. You can walk the streets the week after next and never get a whiff of vinegar or spice, never a faint savor of chili sauce or mustard pickles, no hint of gherkins in brine, no brain-tickling token of tumeric or enameled red peppers.

And doubtless the factories which have taken over the production of all this autumnal incense have worked out some efficient system by which they extract valuable by-products from their fumes.

No incense rises.

Canadian Notebook

By RICHARD L. THOMAS

AT the University of British Columbia I discussed with Dean Geoffrey Andrew, assistant to the president, the possibility and desirability of establishing a university in Victoria. The discussion started from a casual remark that this fall there will be more than 8,000 students enrolled and that the senate is preparing for an enrolment of 16,000 in 1965.

The latter figure is based upon the number of children at present in school on the assumption that the present 6 per cent receiving higher education will be maintained—and that the average rate of immigration will not alter greatly. It may be some hundreds less than 16,000, it may be some hundreds more. When I suggested that the figure was rather frightening and that surely a better solution would be to double the number of universities—possibly quadruple them—Dean Andrew smiled the smile of a learned man digging his heels in.

He said that no one had accurately assessed the upper limit of the number of students at a university. He was quite satisfied that UBC had not reached it and would not reach it with the 1965 intake. He agreed that there would come a time—but he would not say when. The vital factor, he was sure, was the amount of decentralization within the university and he gave the impression that he was well satisfied with the present state of devolution.

The deciding factor, he said, was money. UBC was not opposed to the foundation of what he called "junior universities" in principle; what they were opposed to was a division of resources and the risk of having two weak universities instead of one strong one. If there were two universities they would have to draw on the same financial resources, and that was the crux of the matter. He underlined the fabulous cost of equipment for science, medicine and technological facilities and for the creation of an adequate library. A division of financial strength would, he was sure, weaken the whole fabric of higher education in British Columbia at the present time.

Dean Andrew also emphasized the problems of staffing universities at the present time and implied that a new university would have great difficulty in attracting a competent staff. He admitted, however, that that was also a big problem for UBC and that they would have to find a great number before they could double the number of students. The question was whether a new university would attract staff as readily as an older one.

All over the world there is a tendency for universities to "burst their sides" due to the ever-increasing demand for higher education. The extent to which the standards of education have suffered in the process was, I found, not a very popular subject at UBC.

There is also a tendency all over the world to start new universities. As I understand it an independent university in British Columbia is not possible without an act of parliament. As things are UBC is the only authority which may legally grant degrees, excepting in theology, so that any new university in Victoria or elsewhere could only be established as a UBC satellite bestowing UBC degrees. Possibly it would be an improvement—the experience of Victoria College suggests it would—but the real challenge is the creation of a completely new and independent university.

Victoria would be an ideal location for it—and Dean Andrew granted that much without admitting that a university was necessary. As an Oxford man himself he was not unimpressed by the value of the college and tutorial system of education or the virtues of small numbers. It was not, I gathered, a question of what was ideal but what was practicable and what gave best value for the available money.

What does seem certain is that even in its most expansive mood UBC does not think in terms beyond satellites or "junior colleges," or to enabling bills in the provincial legislature.

The challenge is to Victoria itself. Do the citizens of Victoria want a university sufficiently to make the initial effort? Do they value the contribution that a university could make to the city? It would seem to the visitor to be an almost heaven-sent opportunity for the most worthwhile century project. With UBC preparing to double its intake within the next eight years there seems to be a golden opportunity to make a start with-out—and with all due respect to UBC—in any way damaging UBC, which will have to find considerable sums of money to provide for the additional 8,000 students. Would it be unreasonable if some of that money was spent on Vancouver Island instead of at Point Grey?

Is it wrong that there should be two intellectual grindstones to sharpen the wit and knowledge of fortunate youth? Would anyone seriously argue that the intellectual achievement of Britain would have been greater if Oxford and Cambridge had been a single university at Bicester?

Passed to you, Victorians.

Fountain By-Pass

I have read various views expressed concerning the Fountain Circle. Most people, including engineers consulted, seem to have missed a point.

It has been stated that the circle never should have been installed. I will go further and say that Government and Douglas Streets never should have merged. There is, however, a possible solution. When looking at a city map you will notice that Douglas Street swings left (when going north) at Queen's Avenue. It should be possible to build a by-pass road going north, starting at Queen's Ave. and Douglas Street, then the main road and so on.

A stop-and-go light would be needed at Hillside, but most of the way could be built over what is now low waste land or old buildings. Another point, Douglas Street is plagued by left turns (going north) which would not be the case with an express highway like I suggest.

It should be apparent that it would not be wise to wait 20 years and expect to get the same access to the land that exists today. Look at the old brickyard, for instance.

Summing up, the Douglas Street merchants would still have traffic coming into town as now, but most of traffic for north and east would not need to clash with west-bound.

Weak Defence

In its Saturday follow-up to Peter Bruton's "reinvoke" story, the Colonist is much too kind to itself. It describes Mr. Bruton as "pointing out the word isn't in the dictionary." But, if you will re-read his original story, you will find that he went much further than that. He asserted that "the 500,000 ornate invitations . . . contains (sic) a word never before used in the English language." And further: "In fact there is no such word as 'reinvoke'."

It was chiefly on those two startling statements that I was commenting when I expressed the opinion that the Colonist was "quite in error." However, I take it that Mr. Bruton himself has now abandoned his belief in his two lead sentences in favor of the more modest contention that "reinvoke" is the wrong word in the centennial celebrations context.

I don't think he makes too good a defence of that viewpoint either. In his heavy reliance on Oxford he fails to realize the truth of Wendell Johnson's statement (see People in Quandaries) that "people who are accustomed, for example, to look in a dictionary for the meaning of words proceed under a great delusion if they suppose that what they find in a dictionary is a word's full meaning."

Mr. Bruton's source, for example, neglects to mention "conjure" as a connotation of the word "reinvoke," a definition which I find in Murray's New Dictionary on Historical Principles, and in Webster's several dictionaries. "Conjure" I find, has the connotation "cause to appear to the imagination." Thus if Hook can say, (in the sense of "conjure" as cited by Murray), "Thus was the spirit of architecture invoked," or if Lytton can say, "I can invoke and conjure up those whose eyes are more piercing, whose natures are more gifted," then the centennial committee's use of the word does not seem to me to be too inapt.

As for myself, when I use the phrase, "reinvoke historical scenes," I simply mean "conjure up historical scenes again." Having "historical scenes reasked earnestly for" is Mr. Bruton's own idea.

Incidentally, the Colonist was "quite in error" in suggesting that I am a professor of Ottawa University; I am a member of the faculty of Carleton University in Ottawa.

Numbers Game

In several editorials the Colonist has opposed the idea of making one-way streets of Government and Douglas Streets. There are a number of solutions for the traffic problem at the Fountain Circle during rush hours.

Probably the least expensive and most easily imposed plan would be to prohibit all private cars with B.C. licence plates ending in odd numbers to enter, on even days, the area bounded by the south side of Fort Street, the east side of Douglas St., the north side of Hillside Ave. and the west side of Government St. during the period of, say, 5 and 5:15 p.m.

On odd days, private cars with licence numbers ending in even numbers would have their movement similarly restricted.

This plan, if adopted, would also help solve the traffic problems on Fort Street, Yates Street and Pandora Avenue. If necessary the same restrictions could be placed on cars for a short period in the morning.

The patrons of the bus service often have to wait from five to 20 minutes for a bus. Motorists with private cars should be willing to wait a few minutes every other day.

Balloon Man Sets Record

BRAINERD, Minn. (UP)—An tracking planes that the sur-air force doctor, dangling in a rounding sky was "a dark, tiny capsule below a huge hal-purplish black, a color I have loon, soared to a record height not seen before and can't really of nearly 19 miles yesterday describe."

The balloon, which looked like a gigantic, misshapen pear when it took off, later became a silver ball 200 feet in diameter.

Simons, 34, planned to stay aloft at the 100,000-foot level for a total of 32 hours and land sometime today near Miles City, Mont., 500 miles from his starting point.

The long, silvery balloon emerged from the bowels of an abandoned iron mine shaft near Crosby, Minn.

By radio, Simons reported to

Okanagan Optimistic

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Although a number of things could still go wrong, Okanagan fruit growers estimate that their crop will be about 50 per cent better this year than last year's meagre yield.

Preliminary estimates by British Columbia Tree Fruits Limited, selling agency for the growers, indicate that the apple yield will be 5,000,000 boxes, 50 per cent up from 1956. Peaches are expected to be up 60 per cent, and prunes 40 per cent, while a good crop of cherries has already been marketed. Growers say this adds up to a bumper crop.

Jackson Twirls Two-Hitter As Gorge Forces Fifth Game

Barry Jackson got his re day to sweep the other semi-final at Central Park last night, and the best of five series. "A" Men's Softball League semi-final between Gorge Hotel and Half Way House has narrowed down to a sudden-death affair tonight at 6:30.

Jackson, driven out of the box in the first game of the series, which Half Way won, 9-5, gave up only two hits last night as the Gorgemen squared the series with an 8-1 victory before a capacity crowd.

It was the second straight win for Joe Bryant's Hotelmen, who nipped Half Way, 2-1, on Sunday.

Winner of tonight's game Stan Stewart's fly ball with two meets Arrow Furniture, which out-defeated Duncan, 5-4, on Sunday.

He gave up a blooper single to Jimmy John with two out in the first inning, walked Gerry Parker, and retired the next 21 men he faced. Norm Haskell got the other single with two out in the eighth.

Art Blinks scored what proved to be the winning run for Arrows Sunday afternoon, a bases-empty homer in the sixth.

British Golfer Leads In Qualifying Round

WINNIPEG—Alan Thirlwell, Carr. Bert Ticehurst and member of the British Walker Doug Baxus of Vancouver and Cup team and twice winner of Gorge Hotel and Alex Shepper-ship, took the lead in the qualifying round of the Canadian amateur golf championship Monday as he fired a five-under-par 67 over the picturesque St. Charles Country Club.

Second round of the 36-hole qualifying test will be played today. Indications are that a score of 135 or 134 may be good enough to qualify for match play, which starts Wednesday. Sixty-four golfers will qualify.

B.C. STARS CLOSE

Thirlwell was pressed by two members of the B.C. Willing-don Cup team, a young Ontario comer and Joe Carr of Ireland, a Walker Cup teammate.

Langford Fisherman Selects Right Time for Biggest Fish

Ernie Townsend of Langford, who had never landed a bigger fish in Saanich Inlet, weighed in the biggest salmon he has ever caught and topped almost 500 anglers in Sunday's annual Victoria Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby.

Townsend came in with a 30-pound, three-ounce fish caught on a Strip-Teaser while he was tettering on his line near Ches-terfield Rock about 10 a.m. The catch won for him the first prize of a 16-foot inboard cabin boat and the Woodward Trophy as champion of the 1957 main fish-off.

Second prize went to Vic Holman, Jr., who won an auto-matic sewing machine with a 21-13 spring, one ounce better than Percy Corry's entry, which brought him a camping outfit.

G. B. Williams (20-8) won a shotgun as sixth prize while William Herbert (20-5) was Street after 9 a.m. today.

Lions Lose in Last Seconds; Esks Trample Roughriders

CALGARY—B.C. Lions, who upset Saskatchewan Roughriders 14-10 at home on Saturday night, saw their early-season WIFU win streak snapped at one game in dramatic fashion as Calgary Stampede came through with a last-second touchdown for an 8-1 triumph.

Stampede held a 2-1 lead with 30 seconds left but the Lions had the ball on the Calgary 25-yard line and seemed certain of no worse than a 2-2 tie as they lined up for a field goal attempt.

In fact, victory seemed probable, until centre Chuck Zick-fosse broke through to block the kick.

Fullback By Bailey was rested and Bud Laughlin inserted in his place. Tony Teresa played at half-back in place of Primo Villaneuva and in the line it was John Jankins and Bob Brady for Ed Sharkey and Sherman Hood at the guard positions and Fred Miller for tackle Chuck Frank.

JACKIE PARKER
... 95-yard run

EDMONTON — Saskatchewan's injury-riddled Roughriders, playing their second game in three nights, were no match for Edmonton Es-kimos Monday night, the Grey Cup champions sending 20,000 fans home happy as they thumped the club which in past seasons has been the toughest for them to beat. The score: 37-7.

Weakened by the loss through injuries of tackles John Witte, Galen Laack and Martin Ruby, the Riders couldn't stop the Eskimos from rolling up 20 first downs and 386 yards in an offence featuring the fine passing of Don Getty.

AIR ATTACK

Getty, only Canadian to be ranked as first-string quarter-back in the WIFU or Big Four, led an air attack which saw 16 of 23 passes completed for 253 yards. He threw scoring passes to halfbacks Rolie Miles and

Jackie Parker and to rookie fullback Mike Lashuk.

Parker ran sensationally for 95 yards with a kick-off to score, a second touchdown and Normie Kwong went over on a plunge for another major score. End Joe Mobra converted four times and end Bill Walker kicked to the deadline three times for the other Edmonton points.

Kenny Carpenter plunged for the lone Saskatchewan touch-down and Larry Isbell punted for a single point.

Riders made 21 first downs, but they couldn't get them when it mattered. They managed to outgain the Eskimos on the ground with 219 rushing yards, but the Edmonton club had quarterback Frank Tri-pucka so bothered he could only complete eight passes, for 107 yards, in 19 tosses.

FUMBLE SETUP

A fumble set up the first Edmonton touchdown, the Eskimos going 30 yards in five plays, the last a Getty-Miles pass for six yards, for the major score. The convert and two singles had it 8-0 at the quarter and Riders never got close. They did get to 16-6 in the third quarter, but it was then that Parker made his 95-yard gallop, getting the ball from Miles, who took the kick-off.

Walker set a new WIFU record in the game by aver-aging an almost unbelievable 58.8 yards on six punts. The old record of 58.5 yards for a game was set in 1952 by Clarence "Butch" Avinger of Saskatchewan.

Mounties Move Up On Two Wins

Vancouver Mounties swept both games of a doubleheader from the Padres at San Diego last night to move within two and one-half games of first-place San Francisco Seals in the Pacific Coast Baseball League.

Buddy Peterson hit a two-run homer in the eighth inning to give the Mounties a 3-1 victory in the afternoon game, and Don Ferrarese shut the Padres out on three hits, 2-0, in the night-cap.

Wrestling promoters will try anything, and prove it at Silver Springs, Fla., where Vernon "The Angel" Arnett and Lee "Ponderous" Popple put on their show under water. Prettiest referee in business, Betty Frazee, makes scene slightly more acceptable. Being under water didn't daunt valiant gladiators, although detractors could say it was proof that the mat game is all wet. They gurgled and gasped their way to histrionic draw.

Barry Jackson got his revenge at Central Park last night, and the best-of-five Senior "A" Men's Softball League semi-final between Gorge Hotel and Half Way House has narrowed down to a sudden-death affair tonight at 6:30.

Jackson was driven out of the box in the first game of the series, which Half Way won, 9-5, gave up only two hits last night as the Gorgemen squared the series with an 81 victory before a capacity crowd.

It was the second straight win for Joe Bryant's Hotelmen, who nipped Half Way, 2-1, on Sunday.

Winner of tonight's game meets Arrow Furniture, which defeated Duncan, 5-4, on Sunday to sweep the other semi-final series.

Half Way had the series in its grasp Sunday, but let some two unearned runs after Jeff Worrell's error at shortstop in the third inning.

It was much the same story last night. Gorge broke up a tie pitcherful duel between Jackson and Stan Wargo when Half Way let in another seven unearned runs in the last three innings of the game, which was called after eight innings.

Gorge broke a 1-1 tie in the sixth with three runs on a four-base error to right fielder Bobby Embleton, who dropped Stan Stewart's fly ball with out.

Jackson was in his best form.

He gave up a blooper single to Jimmy John with two out in the first inning, walked Gerry Parker, and retired the next two men he faced. Norm Haskell got the other single with two out in the eighth.

Art Binks scored run that proved to be the winning run for Arrow Sunday afternoon, a bases-empty home in the sixth.

WINNIPEG—Alan Thirlwell, member of the British Walker Cup team and the twice winner of the English amateur championship, took the lead in the qualifying round of the Canadian amateur golf championship Monday as he fired a five-under-par 67 over the picturesque St. Charles Country Club.

Second round of the 36-hole qualifying test will be played today. Indications are that a score of 135 or 134 may be good enough to qualify for the final play, which will be Wednesday. Sixty-four golfers will qualify.

B.C. STARS CLOSE

Thirlwell was pressed by two members of the B.C. Willingdon Cup team, a young Ontario caddy and Joe Carr of Ireland. A Walker Cup teammate, Carr, Bert Ticehurst and off his score in the second round. He shot 73-70 in winning the junior title.

However, many of the Canadian players took the part. Willingdon Cup play said the course was three strokes tougher than it was Saturday because of the placing of tees. Several had been set back on the spacious greens as a few tees were also changed.

Thirlwell was hitting booming drives and sinking long putts on many greens as he made par on 12 of 13 holes. Two of three greens. He was out in 33, but in 34 on the 6,377-yard course as he scored seven birdies, two pars and two bogies.

It appeared as if most of the British Walker Cup team would qualify easily with the major posting scores of 76 or 108.

Ernie Townsend of Langford, who had never landed a bullion fish in Saanich Inlet, weighed in the biggest salmon he has ever caught and topped almost 500 anglers in Sunday's annual Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers Association ladder derby.

Townsend came in with a 30-pound, three-ounce fish caught on a Strip-Teaser while he was letting out his line near Chesterfield Rock about 10 a.m. The catch won for him the first prize of a 16-foot Inboard cabin boat and the Woodward Trophy as champion of the 1957 main fish-off.

Second prize went to Vic Holman, Jr., who won an automatic sewing machine with a 23-pound, two-ounce salmon, also caught on Strip-Teaser near The Boulder. Jack Rowe was third with a 22-pound, one-ounce fish to win an outboard motor.

OTHER WINNERS

Henry Puckett won a Chip pendule cutlery cabinet with a 21.15 spring, one ounce better than Percy Corry's entry, which brought him a camping outfit.

G. B. Williams (20:51) won a shotgun as sixth prize while William Herbert (20:51) was awarded a fishing outfit; Ernie Milliken (17:6) took home a floor polisher; B. Hamilton, Sr. (17:5) won an electric food mixer and Lloyd Jones (17:3) took the 10th prize, a set of china.

An eight-pound coho, large as caught in the derby, won a salt water spinning outfit for Bob Inezachy. Hidden-venue awards were won by B. Marshall, Ivan Shillington, Mrs. A. C. Crucley, L. A. Jackson, D. Dunagan and D. Leonard.

Unclaimed prizes may be called for at 1225 Government Street after 9 a.m. today.

Tiger-Cats Best Bet as Big Four Turns On Ground Power favorite to win the Big Four crown and end Montreal's three-year dominance.

Alouettes last season showed signs they were beginning to slip, particularly their line, and for the third successive year their explosive aerial power was not good enough to beat Edmonton's ball-controlling ground offensive in the cup final.

The Eskimos' success undoubtedly has been the guide by which the Big Four clubs have gone about revamping their lineups.

The Tiger-Cats, who in 1953 were the last Big Four team to win the Grey Cup, have always had a strong ground attack and this year it appears better than ever. The backfield is headed by such hard-hitting runners as Imports Cookie Glichrst, Ralph Goldston, Tony Currello and Eddie Macon.

One indication the Ticals plan to rely mostly on a ground attack has been coach Jim Trimble's decision to use Bernie Faloney as his first-string quarterback. Faloney, a ball-handling whiz and only average passer, was the man Edmondson had as its quarterback when it won the first of its three straight titles in 1954. The former Maryland ace has been in the

The Alouettes, with quarterback Sam (the Rifle) Etcheverry and ends Hal Patterson and Red O'Quinn back to spark their brilliant passing attack, are hoping the addition of a couple of halfbacks will provide more punch to their ground offense. They are Johnny Majors, an all-American from Tennessee, and Joel Wells, a speedster from Clemson College who may miss the first few games because of an injury.

Still heading coach Peabody

Ottawa, which surprised Big Four fans last season by finishing in a tie for second place with Hamilton after ending up in the cellar the previous year, has a good chance to do even better this season under coach Frank Clair's astute leadership.

There should be improvement in both their ground and passing offense. The acquisition of Toronto, which upset the Alouettes in a pre-season game, is the question mark of the league. Argos have undergone a complete shakeup under new coach Hamp Pool, but the potential of their new array of imports indicates they could be a dangerous threat.

The biggest name of the new Americans is C. R. Roberts, a tricky runner from the University of Southern California who has the speed to make him the in the league. The other top men in the ground attack are speedsters Adolphus - Frazier from Florida A.M., Boyd Carter from Santa Monica College, Tommy (Cowboy) McCormick, former National Football League star with San Francisco, holdover Import Dick Shatto and a rookie homebrew full-back, Rich Potter.

Each Big Four club plays 14 games with the regular season ending Nov. 9. The league had a 52 edge in pre-season exhibition games against Western Interprovincial Football Union teams.

CALGARY—B.C. Lions, who upset Saskatchewan Roughriders, 44-20, at home on Saturday. Dick Foster started the drive which gave Lions their chance by blocking a kick on the B.C.

WIFU win streak snapped at one game in dramatic fashion as Calgary Stampede came through with a last-minute touchdown for an 81 triumph.

In fact, victory seemed probable, until centre Chuck Zicko broke through to block passed to Dan Edwards for 22 yards, then passed to Elton, again on the 25-yard line. With the winning out, Lions went for the three points with the result related above.

Lions made several line-up changes from Saturday night as coach Clem Crowe decided to give all of his imports a chance to win a permanent job.

Fullback By Bailey was rested and Bud Laughlin inserted in his place. Tony Teresi played a halfback in place of Terrell Villeneuve and in the line it was John Jankans and Ron Brady for Ed Sharkey and Sherman Hood at the guard positions and Fred Miller for tackle Chuck Frank.

EDMONTON — Saskatchewan's injury-riddled Roughriders, playing their second game in three nights, were no match for Edmonton Eskimos Monday night, the Grey Cup champions sending 20,000 fans home happy as they thumped the club which in past seasons has been the toughest for them to beat. The score: 37-7.

Weakened by the loss through injuries of tackles John White, Gaen Laack and Martin Ruby, the Riders couldn't stop the Eskimos from rolling up 20 first downs and 386 yards in an offence featuring the fine passing of Don Getty.

AIR ATTACK

Getty, only Canadian to be ranked as first-string quarterback in the WIFU or Big Four, led an air attack which saw 16 of 23 passes completed for 253 yards. He threw scoring passes to halfbacks Rollie Miles and

Jackie Parker and to rookie fullback Mike Lashuk.

Parker ran sensationally for 95 yards with a kick-off to score a second touchdown and Normie Kwong went over on a plunge for another major score. End Joe Mobra converted four times, and end Bill Walker kicked to the deadline three times for the other Edmonton points.

Kenny Carpenter plunged for the lone Saskatchewan touchdown and Larry Isbell punted for a single point.

Riders made 21 first downs.

NEW YORK (UP)—The saga of the New York Giants from John McGraw to Willie Mays ended yesterday when club president Horace Stoheneham announced they will shift to San Francisco in 1958.

The long-protracted invasion of the west coast by major league baseball became assured when the Giants' nine-man board of directors voted, 8-1, to end the team's 74-year history in New York. The team will open the 1958 season as the "San Francisco Giants" and may move into a brand-new 45,000-seat stadium sometime during the season.

McGraw, who ran errands for Stoheneham as a boy, said "lack of attendance" was the "real reason" he felt impelled to leave the nation's largest city. He said "business reasons forced the decision" and added, "baseball is a sport but you need money to operate it."

"I am very sorry to be leaving New York," Stoheneham said. "I am a very sentimental about New York but conditions were such that we had to move or have no chance to make as good a deal as this one."

Stoheneham said that San Francisco mayor George Christopher has promised that a new 45,000-seat stadium to be known as Bay View Stadium will be built by the city and should be ready for occupancy sometime next season. He said the Giants will start the 1958 season in Seals' stadium which has a capacity of 22,000.

Stoheneham refused to comment on whether the Brooklyn Dodgers will go west with the Giants to Los Angeles but it is believed the Dodgers also will open the 1958 season on the west coast. The National League formally approved the shift of both clubs to San Francisco and Los Angeles on May 28.

Stoheneham, ruddy-faced and smiling, assured San Francisco fans that "we'll have a strong club."

"We have some good men in Minneapolis and we'll be taking a good club to San Francisco," he said. "In fact, we've struggled for a chance to finish fourth or fifth this year."

Stoheneham refused to identify the lonely dissenter on the board but it was learned he was Donald Grant of the Fahnestock Brokerage Co., New York.

The Polo Grounds itself will be salvaged, Stoheneham said, the lease on the property "continued." The Giants are obligated to pay $311,254 a year for rental and taxes on the Polo Grounds through 1961.

The departure of the Giants from New York marked the fourth and most drastic franchise shift in four years. The Braves shifted from Boston to Milwaukee in 1953, the Browns from St. Louis to Baltimore (Orioles) in 1954 and the Athletics from Philadelphia to Kansas City in 1955.

Bob Harris and Gary Taylor scored three goals each for Stevenson Park last night. Island Tug thumped Jok 16-6, to take the best-of-three Vancouver Island senior "B" crose playoff series in straight games.

However, the future plans of the Tugmen, who won the 1981 game, 13-5, are still uncertain.

It is still not known whether the non-interior leagues are going to declare a champion. If they do, there will be a B.C. playoff, but the title will go to the winner by default.

Canadians Win in U.S. Ladies' Meet; Wood Bests Sarazen in Seniors' Golf

Marlene Stewart Streit, first Canadian ever to win the U.S. ladies' amateur golf championship, opened her round yesterday with an easy 7 and 5 win over Elizabeth Brand of Sacramento.

Three other Canadians won their first-round matches yesterday while newly-crowned Canadian champion, Betty Stanhope, drew a bye into the second round.

Rae Milligan and Mary Gay of Calgary both won. The former ousted Mrs. George Nash of Concord, Calif., 4 and 3, while Miss Gay beat Glenda

And that's what it was for the 55-year-old Sarazen. Both drove to the right and Sarazen appeared to have the edge when his second shot lit on the green about 35 feet away. Wood's second on the 277-yard hole ended on an incline just off the green.

The Vancouver golfer chipped within 15 feet and sank his putt for a par but Sarazen three-putted.

Jimmy Hines and Al Walrous, who faded on the last nine holes, shared third place with 272.

RANKED FIRST: Susan Butt, young Victoria tennis star, beat the Australians, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4, in doubles. Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox nosed out ladies' singles of the Quebec tennis championships. She advanced to the second round yesterday when her opponent defaulted. . . . on Sunday, Miss Butt, who reached the finals in the two doubles events, lost her second bid for a Canadian championship when Bob Howe of Australia and Mrs. Anne Bagge Vieira of Brazil teamed to defeat the Victoria miss and Vancouver's Paul Willey, 9-7, 6-2, in the mixed doubles finals.

Bob Bedard of Montreal and Don Fontana of Toronto teamed Sunday to win the men's doubles, besting the Brazilian pairing of Armando Vieira and Carlos Fernandez, 14-12, 6-3, 12-10.

Oak Bay tightened its already firm grip on second place in the midget division of the Greater Victoria Minor Lacrosse Association yesterday with a double victory at Stevenson Park.

The Bays edged first-place Saarich Farmers, 7-5, as Cliff Thorburn scored three goals, then defeated Victoria City, 7-2.

SWEEP NANAIMO

On Sunday three Victoria teams, already assured of Island championships in their respective divisions, swept three games from Nanaimo clubs. The Nanaimo teams, which did not sign up with the B.C. Lacrosse Association in time, were not eligible for Vancouver Island playoffs.

Tez Dhillon fired six goals to lead Victoria midgets to a 17-4 win, the city pee wees won their game, 9-3, and the juvenile champions downed Nanaimo, 13-1. In another exhibition contest, Nanaimo Juniors overcame a 7-1 first-half deficit to tie the Hall and Co Big Horn juvenile "A", 8-8.

Soccer Booms As 11 Clubs Request Entry

All eight of last year's Victoria and District Football League teams re-entered the league for the 1957 season at the annual meeting last week, and officials received applications from three new clubs. Hungarians, German-Canadians and Eagles applied for membership, and will likely be accepted. However their applications were put over for 10 days while officials try to find a fourth to form a second division. If one cannot be found, the league will operate as one division with 11 teams.

Back for another season are Heaneys, Canadian Scottish, Butler Brothers, Brodie's Bakery, Gorge Hotel, Tillicums and Punjab United.

What's Cooking!

By Frances Thompson

Pickling Time Ahead

As usual once before, the subject will probably not come up again in this column. September with picklemaking is a month. Will you, therefore, The comparative peace and quiet in many a home after the busy summer months, for future use if you're not going to use it in the summer.

Use the subject of pickling. The answer is very simple. The best time to pick is when the fruit is at its peak and a hint of fall in the leaves and a hint of fall in the air. Such at least are my recollections. But it really doesn't matter, my dear. We aim to please.

So for the sake of the many who have asked for some pickling suggestions right now, by all means let's have some. Just one word of warning, however. Since we seem to be rushing the season somewhat longer.

A LOVELIER YOU

By Mary Sue Miller

AID FOR SENSITIVE SKIN. Cosmetics scientists have developed a new effective skin for the sensitive skin that reacts to the harshness of soap and cosmetics. The first is a soap substitute. In liquid form, it cleanses without irritating. Then there are lotions, gentle and sometimes "therapeutic" in character, for soothing and refreshing. And last but certainly not least, comes a group of hypodermic cosmetics. These, mind you, have the full power to enhance but almost none to irritate. Further, they have been drawn through the elimination of irritants that most often affect sensitive skin.

All of these aids are worthy a test. Should sensitivity be your problem. They could well prove to be just what your skin thirsts for.

A LOVELIER COMPLEXION. Whatever your skin problems, to find a solution send for my booklet, "A Lovelier Complexion." Detailed advice contained includes the correct care for dry, oily, combination and normal skin types, proper application of cosmetics, treatments for blackheads, enlarged pores, wrinkles, creases, etc. For your copy of "A Lovelier Complexion" write me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a large self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20¢ in coin to cover cost and handling.

For the sake of our less experienced readers, the four main pickling agents are these:

BRINE: salt solution. To make the brine it's most important to follow directions given in recipes. Pickles will be sour if the brine is too strong and may shrivel if too much is used.

VINEGAR: must be of good quality and used full strength. As a general rule, older vinegar is recommended with white vinegar for light colored pickles, such as onions.

SUGAR: may be either granulated or light brown.

SPICES: should be bought fresh each year and used with caution. Whole spices, tied loosely in a cheese-cloth bag, are preferable to ground ones.

NOTE: Use enamel, aluminum or stainless steel utensils for making pickles.

Since there's quite a bit more to say let's carry on with the subject tomorrow morning and another meantime here are just a few of the requested recipes.

QUICK CUCUMBER PICKLES

Wash small cucumbers. Cover with weak brine (1 cup salt to 1 gallon water).

Let stand 24 hours then drain. Cover with a mixture of 1 part vinegar to 3 parts water. Bring to the boil and simmer 3 minutes. Pack into hot sterilized containers. Fill containers with boiling vinegar solution and seal.

GREEN TOMATO PICKLE

(Makes about 6 pints.)

30 green tomatoes, medium size, 10 medium onions, 1 cup coarse salt or ½ cup coarse salt, 1 tablespoon white vinegar, 1 tablespoon dry mustard, 2 sweet red peppers, 2 cups brown sugar, 3 cups vinegar. Slice tomatoes and onions rather thin and arrange them in layers in large container, sprinkling salt over each layer. Let stand overnight and the morning drain thoroughly.

Rinse in cold water and drain well again. The spices loosely in cheese cloth. Remove stems and "seed cores" from red peppers and chop finely.

Add spice bag and sugar to vinegar and bring to the boil. Then add tomatoes, onions and peppers. Cook for about 10 minutes, stirring frequently. Remove spice bag and pack pickles into hot sterilized jars and seal.

Miss Heather Scott, a former Victoria girl now living in Sun Valley, Idaho, takes an every morning skate across the ice. Heather skated with the Victoria Skating Club and is now a member of the Sun Valley Figure Skating Club's weekly ice skates. When off the ice, Heather works at Sun Valley. Her mother, Mrs. C. G. Scott, lives in Vancouver.

Bikini Boom?

ROME (UPI) — Sirena, mermaid-buster Williams said late that Europe has accepted her to the bikini.

The American actress, here filming a picture, said she has been given away all the cheap bikini suits which were her trademark in the United States. "Once you get used to it," she said, "I feel sure that once American women begin wearing them they will wear nothing else on the beaches. Let's face it, they do wonders for a girl with a figure."

ON THE FASHION BEAM

Barre back. This makes the newest pose an old-fashioned. A lot of girls are doing it in front and a lot of girls are doing it in back. It is the latest fashion. It is done in the most graceful way with the arms raised, and a hand on the hip.

Elizabeth's—Visit Ruffles Tempers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Elizabeth the Queen, who will visit America next autumn, is being greeted by Americans with a mixture of curiosity and hostility. They will get a look at her when she is in the city for a day or two.

Because of the jealousy and hostility, the official attitude is one of extreme caution. The extent of displaying the royal family is the hope that the queen will not be offended.

Chief trouble spot is New York. The queen and Prince Philip will have only one day to visit the city and then they will be on their way to the United States. Her diet forbids alcoholic beverages, sugar, candy and fats, the paper says. It cuts down her liquid intake to four cups a day.

They will be entertained at a luncheon by the queen and Prince Philip will have only one day to visit the city and then they will be on their way to the United States.

Reducing Royally

LONDON (AP) — The Women's Sunday Mirror says the Queen is dieting to lose 10 pounds for her October visit to Canada and the United States. Her diet forbids alcoholic beverages, sugar, candy and fats, the paper says. It cuts down her liquid intake to four cups a day.
